

Note the dotted line on the template shows where to fold the template so it wraps around the carved eye mound. The left edge of the template touches the bridge of the nose.